

Golden Orioles

The Golden Oriole is an elusive bird. It hides in dense woodland and taunts us with its warbling call. It is a bird of pure gold; here for a second and gone before you can reach for your camera. Perhaps you can be the one to capture it on film!

Spring in Romania is a magical time. The storks are nesting and the woodpeckers are banging holes into the wooden eaves of our guest house. If you enjoy birds and flowers this week is the one for you. There will be a little bit of walking (but not much!). Just a lot of time to look and appreciate. You will need comfortable shoes, a light rain jacket, a sun hat and perhaps a camera and binoculars.

Canon Pat Robson is the author of several books on Celtic Christianity and the founder of the White Cross Mission. She lives in Cornwall. Please feel free to phone her to discuss this retreat.